

Panel 1: The Forgotten Sarcophagus

Scene: Anna, a determined woman clad in a rugged trench coat, stands beneath the twisting boughs of a dense, nocturnal forest. In front of her, half-swallowed by ancient roots and creeping ivy, rests an ominous metallic chamber wired with makeshift cables and archaic dials. Thick fog pools around her boots.

NARRATION: They buried it three centuries ago beneath the damp rot of the Blackwood. They thought stone and rust could smother divinity.

DIALOGUE:

ANNA: "Found you. Sleep's over, old god."

Panel 2: The Divine Spark

Scene: A dramatic close-up on Anna's face, half-shrouded in shadow. Her gloved hands firmly depress a heavy glass syringe containing an intensely glowing, celestial fluid into the pod's central port. Intense light streams through the cracks of the capsule, carving sharp lines across her stern expression.

NARRATION: Prometheus stole fire from the heavens. I had to distill it down to forty cubic centimeters of harvested starlight.

DIALOGUE:

ANNA: "Take the spark... and breathe."

Panel 3: The Rupture

Scene: The iron chamber violently fractures, unleashing a deafening kinetic shockwave. Giant pine trees buckle and splinter outward as blinding streaks of raw power pierce through the forest mist. Anna is thrown back, bracing herself against the blast with one forearm raised to guard her eyes.

NARRATION: It isn't a heartbeat. It's an eviction notice served directly to the laws of physics.

DIALOGUE:

ANNA: "Ngh-hold together!"

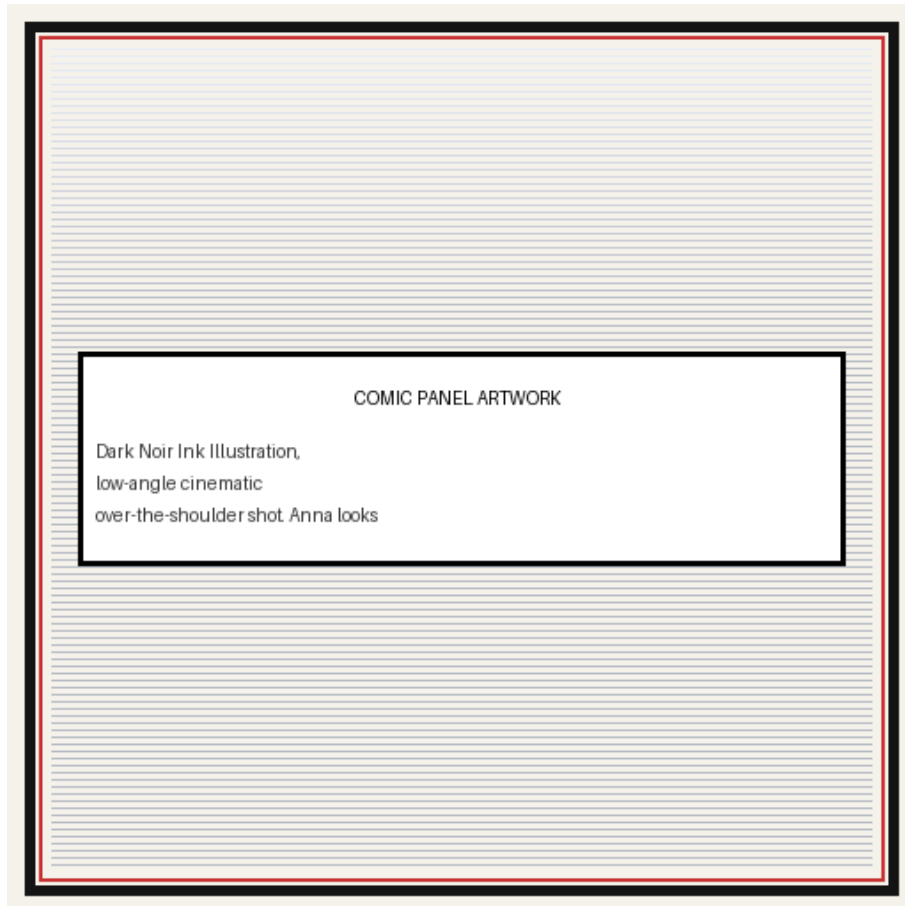

Panel 4: The Emergence

Scene: From the smoking, shattered crater, a towering superhuman figure ascends, hovering silently feet off the ground. The entity's silhouette is statuesque and imposing, with piercing pure-white eyes illuminating the thick smoke. The surrounding forest is dead silent as leaves and debris levitate in the gravitational wake.

NARRATION: Then comes the silence. The suffocating stillness that falls only when an apex predator with no equal reclaims the earth.

Panel 5: God in the Shadows

Scene: A tense low-angle shot from over Anna's shoulder. She stands battered but defiant, looking up into the eyes of the hovering Superman. The newly forged titan tilts his head, regarding his creator with unfathomable, terrifying intelligence as mist swirls between them under the dark canopy.

NARRATION: I spent a decade in the dark believing I was engineering a savior. Looking into those incandescent eyes... I realize I only built a judge.

DIALOGUE:

ANNA: "Can you hear me?"

TITAN: "I hear everything, little architect. Including the beat of your terrified heart."